“ I would like to be there in person to extend my sympathy to you, Judy's family, but that will not be possible. I have been ill off and on for the past month, and with the heat what it has been, I do not get out at all.

The talk that Judy and I had several weeks ago will be how I will remember her. We talked about "old times" and the fact that I remember when she and her family moved in next door when she was 6 months old. Other things we talked about were her "chain saw" and trimming branches at my house, when she babysat Larry for me so I could work, Justin coming over to play with my dog, Sammy, her "outdoor" work in her garden and with her lawn. So many things to remember.

For the present, I still live where I always did. Feel free to stop by.
