“ I just found out that Nancy passed. I am so upset. She was a good friend of mine from years ago. I worked with Nancy at Drs. Shoch and Wertz Ophthalmology office in Chicago. I lost contact with her. We had so many good times together. She talked alot about her daughter Amy I remember. She was a good friend. My condolences to her family. My name is Mary Hartig. God bless you.

“ Wild animals in the dunes
We played Apache by the moon
The beautiful woman my cousin
I, the brother your never had
Serendipity, you came and rescued me
On my mother's difficult night
When she threw her urine soaked depend at me
You bathed and cleaned her with warm washcloths and soothing words
Oh, cousin Nancy
Cousin Nancy
Wild animals in the dunes
We played Apache by the moon...

“ My Aunty Nancy was a warm hearted person with a bubbly personality. She had a wonderful smile and liked to make people laugh. Some of my fondest memories as a child were times we spent with Aunty Nancy and her family (along with Grandma & Louise) especially during holidays. Sharing Christmas cookies, singing carols and and sharing recipes and stories are some of my most treasured childhood memories. She enjoyed gardening and cooking, as well as travel and loved going on archeological “digs”. As I grew and started a family of my own, I had less opportunity to be with her but my memories are fond. She is loved and will be missed. Rest in peace Aunty Nancy.

“ My memories are many -- our "tea talks" when I came home late from classes; ballets at the Opera House every holiday season (part of Nan's Christmas gift); a fancy hotel vacation in Florida when I was 21 and Nan was 14 (an early birthday present); our comedy routines done with peals of laughter; and modern dance dramas in our living room (great exercise). Later took our children everywhere together -- they enjoyed each other. Over the years, we grew apart each doing our chosen graduate work and pursuing our careers. When illness overtook her, I was able to be there for her and we came together again. I am so proud of Nancy and all that she accomplished in her life.

“ Strangely, this late in life I've never forgotten my merry little cousin Nancy, when I was maybe ten, warning me on Aunt Elsie and Uncle Tony's South Side sidewalk not to venture down the concrete steps to the basement because monsters might get us there. While our big cousin Gloria scolded us both - for being so childish? My childhood and Nancy's laughter seem still intermingled now. And I'm glad for that.

“ I met Nancy over 25 years ago at a Chicago Archeology Society meeting. She was very passionate about the subject, and did archeological excavations throughout Illinois, and shared her knowldege as a docent at the Chicago Field Museum. Our friendship grew and she shared her curiosity of life and its origins with my children. Most importantly, Nancy's smile, warmth and interest in other people made our times together always memorable. The memories of Nancy will be us forever.

“ My cousin Nancy, among her other intellectual accomplishments, was a published writer who wrote novels that were a joy to read. She had a keen lively mind and the soul of an artist.
